FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Connecticut Water Company Supports Energy-Conservation Project at the Ivoryton Library

CLINTON, Conn. — Jan. 30, 2018 — Connecticut Water Company is proud to announce that it has been able to help fund energy-conservation projects at the Ivoryton Library through the Connecticut Neighborhood Assistance Act Tax Credit program. The company's donation will go toward the replacement of windows in the library that date back to the 1880s. The replacement windows will help the library reduce its heating and cooling costs.

Elizabeth Alvord, the executive director of the Ivoryton Library, shared, "We are fortunate to have such support for energy-conservation projects. With the dollars from Connecticut Water Company and others, we are able to make our 140-year-old historic building more sustainable, welcoming and comfortable for our patrons."

David Radka, chair of Connecticut Water's Corporate Responsibility Committee, noted, "Connecticut Water and its employees take pride in being good stewards of the natural resources entrusted to it, and we are pleased to be able to support the library's efforts to use energy more efficiently to the benefit of patrons and the environment."

About the Ivoryton Library

The Ivoryton Library is a private, nonprofit association serving the greater community. The library loans books and other visual and audio materials, and provides research assistance. It also creates educational, historical, cultural and civic programs of interest to the community.
