

We value the mutual trust we have with our employees. That trust extends to employees working from home whether during the COVID-19 response or otherwise. For employees in roles that are classified as hourly we rely on them to ensure compliance with time entry policies. When an hourly employee works from home they must enter their time and be compensated for the time worked. Employees should have a discussion with their supervisor so that they have a mutual understanding about what is expected and permitted. If their workload necessitates overtime, it should be confirmed, in advance with their supervisor.
